History

The subject was registered in 10.5.2000 in Auckland New Zealand as a proprietary company. The subject is a family owned affair, which was started in the garage of Superman, the director. It gradually grew to become a reputable importer and wholesaler of Kryptonite. In December 2005 the subject acquired the assets of Baddies Services Ltd, a hero service company with branches in Auckland and Wellington. In July 2006 the subject acquired the business assets of a sole trader business based in Hamilton, New Zealand.

Initially, the subject focused on importing green crystals and blue tights and distributing them to via night markets in Auckland New Zealand. Gradually, their products accumulated fame for being deadly and tight. Thus, Superman decided to wholesale the blue tights to retailers. In 2007, Superman decided to import red capes. These were well appreciated by customers for their intensity in colour and their flowing in the wind ability. Superman decided to expand his range of capes, offering bulletproof capes, 'S' stickers and all types of kryptonite.

In 2011/2012 Superman worked alongside a large IT company and created an e-commerce website for his range of superhero products. These can be pre-ordered by customers in bulk or can be ordered for immediate wearing. They are currently delivered across Auckland New Zealand, within 35 minutes.

Principles

The subject's shares are held by KENT ENTERPRISES LIMITED (100%)

Superman was appointed a Director and Company Secretary on 10.5.2000. He is also the Director of Beatdownbadguys Limited, a company that imports and distributes terror. Superman was born in 5.3.1956 in Auckland, New Zealand.

Superman has 30 years' experience in the importing and distributing herostuffs. His previous accomplishments include creating a range of krptonite for children, under the company NuclearTastickindies Limited. However, he sold this company in 1998. Since then, Superman held senior executive roles A-Team Limited, and been a member of the Executive Committe for Healthy Eating. He also held various roles as Chief Information Officer and Head of Strategy for Blah Blah Blah Limited and ILikeltChunky Limited.

Operations

The subject is an importer, wholesaler and distributor of hero products. The subject specialises in tights, capes and a range of kryptonite such as:

- Crystals
- Burgers
- Gasses
- Mega rays

Through their network of distributors, the subject supplies many of the countries most fashionable good guys, heros, politicians, and many well known retail establishments. Their products are also exported (not directly by the subject) in ever growing quantities to Asia and parts of Europe. The products are available in attractive retail glass jars, re-sealable hero containers and bulk pails.

Their strict manufacturing standards and commitment to quality has secured many national contracts to manufacture specialty products for a wide variety of applications. The subject's range of hero products have done exceedingly well, thus Superman decided to brand them under the trademark: MAN-o-STEEL. Initially, Superman formulated the kryptonite for his range of mega rays. At present, he has 2 staff employed to create new crystals, and these are launched every season. They are met with much excitement from the public. The popularity of his products led Superman open a boutique cafe, where he sells his range of doughnuts.
